What have dog lovers learned or can learn about God through their relationships with canines? Plenty, especially when the Lord is the trainer. What Dog Lovers Know About God consists of an easy-to-read, entertaining narrative about experiences with dogs that are full of spiritual lessons sure to benefit the individual reader and/or a Bible study group. Through stories about losing a pet and about rehabilitating rescued dogs, this book explains how to cope with death and loss, have a relationship with God, be confident in one's salvation, be freed from those things that bind us, learn to trust God, study the Bible, do spiritual warfare, identify our true enemy, become more like Jesus, hear God, know His will, appreciate fellowship, endure and understand suffering and trials, embrace our own rehabilitation, have patience through training, love the leash, live in dog-wagging joy, and best of all, know God's, unconditional love. Currently retired from full-time residential teaching, Dr. Brenda Ayres continues to teach online graduate courses in British literature for Liberty University. To date, she has published 70 scholarly books and over 400 articles and chapters. Besides the Lord, her greatest blessings have been four cocker spaniels: Lyssie, Gracie, Annie, and Libby.

The Labrador Handbook Routledge

A comprehensive guide to puppy training by Mark Vette, of Pound Pups to Dog Stars fame. Mark's first book Dog Zen had just 40 pages on puppies - this book goes into full detail about all ages and stages, and how to do the right thing at the right time. Following a quick look at the role of pups within the wolf pack, and how dogs evolved from wolves, this book gives a day-by-day, week-by-week guide to the fundamentals of training your puppy and building a happy lifelong bond between the two of you. Mark stresses the importance of the formative period (1-4 months) to instill good habits in your puppy, then shows you exactly how to do so and when to teach each skill. Includes chapters on choosing a puppy, forming a bond with your pup, training foundations (equipment and techniques), basic commands (like sit, heel and stay), what to train in which weeks of age, house training, socialisation, teaching them not to bite or indulge in continual barking, jumping up or other anti-social behaviours. It is a detailed and practical guide combining the latest cognitive science with modern, loving, training techniques. Illustrated with irresistible puppy photos (by renowned animal photographer Rachael McKenna), plus down-to-earth how-to shots of the training methods.

The Dog Guardian Dogwise Publishing

Finally there is a SAR Canine Training Log and Journal to maintain all of the needed documentation about the search and rescue dog and handler. This log allows the handler to identify goals and objectives for dog training and record those sessions. The Log coordinates a full year's worth of weekly training, including 52 blank training logs. The SAR Canine Training Log and Journal is a simple and organized method to set and track training goals, objectives, scenario based trainings, and certifications of the handler and the search dog. It provides a place to record seminars and workshops and specialty events attended. Record search and rescue missions, contacts, and general memories as you document the activities of the Air Scent, Human Remains Detection (both land and water), and Trailing dog. There is plenty of space to document general obedience and agility training in the concise and structured formats. A must have for all SAR dog handlers.

Cesar's Way Harlequin

Getting a new puppy or dog is usually an exciting thing for any family. There is a good reason why dogs are referred to as people's best friend, and a devoted dog is more than just a pet, it's a treasured member of the family. To reach that stage of affection and companionship, it is far crucial to begin your puppy or dog on the right foot of training. A strong training in obedience and good manners is vital to making your dog, and you, happier and healthier. How does your dog sit when you tell it to and mine doesn't? How can your dog respond to you like that? "Wow! It comes when you tell it to" - sounds familiar? If it does, you need to make investments into a little bit of primary dog schooling. Start teaching your dog from a younger age because the first few months of its life is when you have the best influence on it; that is when it is formed into the dog it becomes when it's all grown up. The most essential dog education is to get your dog to take a seat and remain calm. Teaching it those commands are crucial for it to get adjusted to. Those instructions are used for numerous unique reasons, if you are in a competition and your dog jumps up and you are unable to make it sit still, this will definitely get him off the competition. To "come" is the most primary command. If you take your dog for a walk and you allow it off the leash, you expect it to return back to you and not run around the park with you chasing after it, shouting for it to "get here right this instant". That could be downright embarrassing! This lesson unites each dog having a forever family. As a veterinary physician, I've shared the wisdom gained from working with various dogs of diverse breed and character to help individuals develop their own pets to well-trained dog that will cause you to feel great about instruction and rewarding your pet with wellness organic dog treats. This training starts with the fundamentals establishing focus, control and building confidence (trust), and mastering training techniques. Therein, I explain the 6 common commands i teach every dog: HEEL, NO, SIT, STAY, DOWN, and OFF commands. To train your dog the right way to act requires the maximum fundamental techniques; however continuity is essential in its training. The simplest way to get it to come back is to have a toy on one hand and a treat on the other. When you are in a residential area, stroll a few paces away from it, keep out the toy and call it to you excitingly, when it comes over; supply it a treat, always use the command for come during the duration of the training. Doing this numerous times a day is an exceptional way to educate it, but remember to take lengthy breaks so it doesn't get bored and stop taking part in it, and don't overlook the treats! Getting it to sit down could be more difficult but again this technique requires fundamental dog schooling. If you have mastered the "come" command, call it to you, place your hand at the tip of its back and say "take a seat" at the same time lightly push it down on its backside, while it places its bottom down, deliver it a treat and a number of praises. In case you want it to sit down longer, just put off giving it the treat and the reward, get it to sit, however take your time bending all the way down to it and feeding it its treat. Basic dog education is straightforward and very powerful. It needs to also be an exciting experience for you and your dog; it shouldn't be an hourly affair daily, merely 5 minutes or so. Don't overlook rewarding your dog and yourself for all the "hard" work!

Veterans Dog Training Therapy Act Storey Publishing, LLC America's foremost authorities on dog care and training distill decades of experience in a comprehensive "foundational" guide for dog owners. No matter what training method or techniques you use with your dog, the training is unlikely to be optimally successful unless it is predicated on an understanding of the dog's true nature. Dogs need food, water, exercise and play, rest, veterinary care--the basics. But since dogs naturally want to be led, they also need focused and compassionate guidance. Through abundant stories and case studies, the authors reveal how canine nature manifests itself in various behaviors, some potentially disruptive to domestic accord, and show how in addressing these behaviors you can strengthen the bond with your dog as well as keep the peace. The promise of this book is that, especially in an ever-accelerating world filled with digital distractions, you can learn from your dog's example how to live in the moment, thereby enriching your life immeasurably.

World-renowned dog behaviourist and psychologist Mark Vette (of Driving Dogs and Flying Dogs fame) shows you how to transform your dog and create a harmonious life-long bond. This book looks at how the dog evolved from the wolf, and the ancient co-evolved bond that exists between humans and dogs, before explaining how to get your dog into a fundamental calm 'learning state' so you can encourage the behaviours you want from your pet. Mark then explains how to train your new puppy, and if you have an older dog that wasn't trained properly at that crucial early stage, how to correct each of the top ten behavioural problems that occur. Drawing from Mark's own life and experiences there are case studies throughout with beautiful photographs of these amazing animals. The top ten problems are: 1. Hyperactivity 2. Phobias 3. Excessive submission 4. Dog-to-dog aggression 5. Dog-to-human aggression 6. Barking 7. Separation distress 8. House training 9. Destructive behaviours 10. Recall This book is absolutely packed with information. It is a comprehensive practical guide combining the latest cognitive science with modern, loving, training techniques.
