As parents, we want to shape our children into emotionally mature and healthy human beings. But we cannot effectively shape our children's emotional well-being until we've addressed our own traumas and emotional needs. In It Starts with You, marriage and family therapist and parent coach Nicole Schwarz offers a nonjudgmental, shame-free guide to parenting children with a calm confidence. Working from a place of grace and compassion, she encourages us to explore how our history, thoughts, and assumptions impact our parenting decisions. Moving away from traditional discipline strategies, Schwarz focuses on the importance of having a calm brain, connected relationships, respectful conversations, and a coaching mindset with our kids. It Starts with You lays out a five-step process you can turn to whenever you're stuck in a difficult parenting situation. Each step is grounded in research and presented in a way that is easy to understand. Rather than adding unnecessary pressure, we learn that kids do not need perfect parents, but parents who are willing to learn, grow, and move forward with them in a positive direction.

In 1990 Perry Wood shelved his music career to breed, break in and train horses. 'All my work with horses,' he says, 'has been about exploring deeper communication, learning to understand and influence another being for the mutual benefit of both parties. As time went on I realised that more communication was happening below the surface than people normally noticed. I started to apply these observations to the people who came to me to learn, at which point it was suggested that what I was doing with the horses and people would be transformational if it was brought into corporations.' He was right, it is! 'What I bring to this work is not only my learning from years of horse whispering and people-training but also the non-judgemental spiritual essence of unconditional love that is present in everything.' In Secrets of the People Whisperer, Perry Wood shows with unique simplicity how to listen to yourself, how to listen to others and - once you've mastered these skills - how to set goals and turn your life into a stunning success story.

The Complete 3-Book Set! What is a Lemon Mom? She's a mom who lacks the ability to love and nurture her children, accept them or help them feel protected, safe and secure. She parents mostly by shaming, blaming, humiliating, and belittling. Her children grow up to feel "not good enough," unloved, misunderstood, and like they don't matter. Are you confused or hurt by your mother's behavior? Is your relationship with her less than satisfying or even painful? Are you afraid of or intimidated by her? If you answered yes to any of these questions, you can discover how to heal and take back your personal power. 1. Lemon Moms: A Guide to Understand and Survive Maternal Narcissism You can learn how to heal the emotional pain of Narcissism Victim Syndrome and take back your personal power. Let author Diane Metcalf, survivor of narcissistic abuse syndrome, show you how. Me too For as long as I can remember, there was something "different" about my mother. She wasn't like other mothers. By the time I was in middle school, I'd met a lot of moms, and I'd witnessed their interactions with their kids. My mom didn't act like them; she didn't relate to me the way they did with their kids. She didn't hug or kiss me. She didn't smile at, spend time with, or play with me. She didn't seem happy to see me. She didn't ask about my school day, and she wasn't interested in knowing my friends. She seemed to have no interest in me or anything that I did. Your mother doesn't need a formal "diagnosis" for you to determine that your relationship is unhealthy. If it is, you can do something about it. Until now, you had two choices: live on her terms (focusing on her, chasing after her withheld love and acceptance) or go "no contact." I suggest that you have a third option: allow me to walk with you through the chaos and confusion that is maternal narcissism. I'll show you how to decode the crazy-making behavior, heal the damage, and take back your personal power. 2. The "Lemon Moms Companion Workbook," is your safe space for healing. Your mother doesn't need a diagnosis to determine that your relationship with her is unhealthy. If you like detailed writing, personal examples, and a touch of humor, you'll love the author's authenticity and conversational style. Combined with "Lemon Moms: A Guide to Understand and Survive Maternal Narcissism," you'll walk through the chaos and confusion of maternal narcissism: what it is, what it does, and how to recover from its devastating effects. Use a journal, notebook or digital notepad to explore thought-provoking questions. Take actionable steps to help gain insight and perspective for beginning, or continuing in, your healing journey. Heal the damage and move forward to live your best life! You'll learn how to: remove the drama from interactions with your mother set personal boundaries identify and shut down manipulative attempts identify gaslighting and heal cognitive dissonance identify dissociation take control of your personal power learn to emotionally detach 3. Lemon Moms: Life-Altering Affirmations, Change Your Self-talk, Change YourSELF It's time to take healing a step further! You can't change others, but you can absolutely change yourself! Focusing on language and media in Asian Russia, particularly in Buryat territories, Mixed Messages engages debates about the role of minority media in society, alternative visions of modernity, and the impact of media on everyday language use. Graber demonstrates that language and the production, circulation, and consumption of media are practices by which residents of the region perform and negotiate competing possible identities. What languages should be used in newspapers, magazines, or radio and television broadcasts? Who should produce them? What kinds of publics are and are not possible through media? How exactly do discourses move into, out of, and through the media to affect everyday social practices? Mixed Messages addresses these questions through a rich ethnography of the Russian Federation's Buryat territories, a multilingual and multiethnic region on the Mongolian border with a complex relationship to both Europe and Asia. Mixed Messages shows that belonging in Asian Russia is a dynamic process that one cannot capture analytically by using straightforward categories of ethnolinguistic identity.

This detailed, meticulous ethnographic study on mobile phone use among Nuba students at the University of Khartoum in Sudan, distinguishes itself from other studies by taking a focused look at the linguistic content of mobile phone interactions via text-messaging, portraying it as a site for the expression of personalized and affective language. While men and women appear to be equally aggressive consumers and producers of text-message poetry, women are formally discouraged in using the phone for relations that go beyond the publicly acceptable norms of keeping in touch and making arrangements. Nonetheless, women use it for such purposes and many manage it discreetly, showing how this technology can serve to subvert discursive norms on gender and marriage. The mobile phone in Sudan enhances individual autonomy over interactions, making possible the extension and creation of social spaces. It simultaneously enlarges private space and trespasses into public space. Poetic themes and language, previously limited to elite producers those both more literate and who had control over mass media domains, radio and newspapers are exposed to anonymous recipients, who draw from, copy or forward them in continuous circulation, thereby staking a claim in the public sphere. Similarly, the mobile phone serves as a site for the exercise of several layers of identity in negotiation, and reflects or creates alternative identities and the contestation of existing discourses, communities in physical space and notions of belonging.

Most people believe that intimacy is a unitary construct-that is, that it is made up of only one component. Dr. Bagarozzi demonstrates how intimacy is comprised of at least nine separate subcomponents. The degree to which partners can meet the intimacy needs of their mates in all nine areas is critical to marital satisfaction. Building upon the foundations of the author's Enhancing Intimacy Program, which he developed and utilized in his own practice with clients, Enhancing Intimacy in Marriage explores the ways in which intimacy is demonstrated and communicated between married partners. A simple questionnaire, the Intimacy Needs Survey, is used to help couples identify areas of satisfaction and areas where intimacy needs are not being met. Clinical strategies for helping couples improve their intimacy are presented in case examples. This book is unique in that it offers clinicians a step-by-step approach for both assessment and intervention
